Negotiating with Hannes Androsch for six years - now the former Austrian Minister of Finance has bought the Parkcafe property in Altaussee (Styria). The industrialist would like to establish a health resort there.

The municipality of Altaussee faces the ambitious plans positively. "Yes, we need the hotel because it fits exactly into our profile. Here, it is not about a ruckus, but a health resort hotel and a hotel that supports the gentle tourism. Also, Sole-Heilquelle will be connected to it there", explains the Altaussee Mayor, Herbert Pichler.

For Androsch, this is not the first hotel project. The go-getting manager had already opened the Viva Hotel in Maria Woerth at Lake Woerther in 2005. Today, the 8.5 million Euro expensive project is leading with its nutrition programme F.X. Mayer.
